NAT GOODWIN FAMOUS ACTOR PASSES AWAY

(By Associated Press)
New York, Jan. 31.—Nat Goodwin, the actor, died at a hotel here early today after a brief illness. He came to New York last Monday from Baltimore where he had been playing. Death was due to a general breakdown in health after an operation for the removal of his right eye several months ago. The removal of his eye was the result of an error made by an employee in preparing an eye wash. He suffered a slight stroke of apoplexy just before he died. Goodwin was born in Boston July 26, 1857. He was a familiar figure on the American stage for many years. He made his first appearance in 1874. His histrionic career, however, dated back to his school days in an academy at Farmington, Me., where his ability as a mimic won him local renown. Goodwin married five times. His first wife was Ethel Weatherby, a comedy actrix, who died in 1887. Subsequently he married Nellie Baker Pease, Maxine Elliott, Edna Goodrich and Marjorie Moreland. He was soon to have taken his sixth wife, George Gardner, of Los Angeles, who was playing in the company in which Goodwin was starring at the time of his death.

WOOLEN MILLS PRODUCTION FALLING LOW

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 31.—Only 63 per cent of all looms making woollen goods in this country were in operation on January 2nd compared with 77 per cent on Dec. 2nd. In a report today on active and idle machinery the Bureau of Markets, Dept. of Agriculture, said the January decrease was due to strikes, cancellation of government orders and the closing of plants for the purpose of taking inventories. Charter bills for the city are getting numerous at Concord.

GLASGOW RIOTERS INJURED

(By Associated Press)
Glasgow, Jan. 31.—Several persons were injured here today when the police charged a crowd of strikers with their batons. The mounted police were called out and a number of arrests made.

The clash occurred in George Square where the strikers had been called to a meeting at noon. All the trades unions in Scotland are expected to be represented at the conference tomorrow to consider a resolution proposing to strike, including asking the government to enact a 48 hour week law. It is said that the conference intends to organize a national strike.

(By Associated Press)
Saco, Me., Jan. 31.—The domestic relations of Henry H. Hall and his wife were gone into again when Hall's trial for murder was resumed. Their 14-year old daughter, Frances, who yesterday told of quarrels between her parents, due to the attentions of Hall to other women, was further cross examined. The defense brought out that the father had done much of the house work, including cooking and washing while the family lived at Princeton because of the ill health of his wife. His frequent absence from home at night, the witness accounted for by his attendance at prayer meetings and his lodge. The girl agreed that her father gave her a tap instead of a blow on the head with a hymn book as she described the incident yesterday after the witness had declared to let one of the Gerow girls sit with her in church. Several witnesses were then called to testify regarding the statements made by Hall regarding his wife's plunge from a railroad bridge upon which the charge of murder was based. Hall had said, according to the witnesses, that he jumped her over a fence of water to get Mrs. Hall and that he accompanied her to the house where she died a few hours later. The prosecution by its witnesses had shown that Hall was not at the hospital. Mrs. Goldie Shorey, a neighbor of the Halls, testified that she had seen the respondent and Katie Gerow together at the Wells Depot station just before Easter. Counsel for defense had her testify to the character of Katie Gerow. She said the girl was a "good mixer" was active in church work. She was glad to have her own daughter associate with her then and willing to have them together now. The 72-year-old mother-in-law of the accused murderer was next called. She smiled in motherly fashion toward Judge Wilson and the prosecutors, and included Judge Emery and Mr. Hinchey in her pleasant glance of greeting. She was permitted to be seated as she testified. Her voice was so low that it did not carry as far as the jury box. Judge Wilson repeatedly urged her to raise her voice. County Attorney Chesley conducted the examination. "When Mr. Jones talked with you first you didn't believe that Henry killed your daughter, did you?" "No, not then, but I was convinced of it before Mr. Jones came the second time." "Had you, up in that time, told any one on God's green earth that Henry and Minnie had ever quarrelled?" "No." "Did Jones tell you that Henry had contracted the smoking habit?" "No." "Did he tell you that he had taken to morphine?" "No, I knew it myself. For four years he used it. He used a needle and used to stick it in his arm, you know. I saw him use it and he said it was to kill the pain." Frances Hall described herself as the daughter of Minnie and Henry Hall and said she was in her 14th year. She told of the several places at which the family lived. At Princeton they boarded three or four days at the McKeehan house and then moved to the McPeters house. Her father and mother quarrelled at both places. On the trip up to Harrington for the funeral he didn't cry. He sang and whistled on the train.

KITTERY

Kittery, Jan. 31.—A very successful "Barn-B-Dollar" social was held on Thursday evening at the Independent Street Methodist vestry under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. The hostesses for the evening being Mrs. Mabel Tibbitts and Miss Pearl Raymond. The sum of about $10 was realized. A pleasing program was rendered in connection with the following "experiences" as follows:
Piano solo, Miss Ellen Bowden
Reading, Miss Harriet Jenner
Experiences, Miss Doris Peabody
Reading, Miss Doris Peabody
Experiences, Miss Doris Peabody
Piano duet, Misses Helen Rhodes and Bernice Farrington.
Pantomime.
A few of the experiences as related are printed. First, that of Mrs. Parkson:
Here is my dollar, old, wrinkled, yet intact.
Not earned by flying a shuttle for "cat."
That might have been my first suggestion.
Alas! Mrs. Jenner would think me in opposition.
It was not earned by using a hoar for crocheting.
As the Mrs. Fife, Tibbitts and Bowden, ter excel in that, they say.
Still not by cooking—I'm glad to relate.
For in that Mrs. Bonds and Hearne send others to their fate.

But with sugar scarce and eggs so high.
I wonder how folks can be induced to buy.
By writing poems it might have been earned.
But Miss Lovell can do quite a bit, I have learned.
At pulling hair and other such stunts.
So I decided to leave her entirely alone at once.
Mrs. Fife, Jackson, Baker and Smart make fine candy.
But at that I am not especially handy.
Mrs. Caswell and Miss Dyer can em-broider to perfection.
No fancy work too, of all kinds, without exception.
Yet even that didn't appeal to me.
So think again I must, how equally smart to be.
Oh, yes, there's Ethel, I wonder now what she will do.
I can't guess, for her talents are in no wise few.
There is washing, ironing and mending too.
These need to be left for Sister Hall to do.
Seemingly not very inviting, I left them undone.
For another way appeared for my dollar to be won.
I did not fear Mrs. Marshall with her sweet way.
So I decided to dressmake what ever was to pay.
The heels had to be fixed on two new dresses.
Much to the pleasure of the Miss and Mrs. Princes.
Many other members there are on the roll call.
If I'd time to name them would outdo us, one and all.
Many new faces here we welcome, surely.
Whose membership we will receive most gladly.
Then I know my member could not be so unkind.
But as to help them their particular talents to find.
The Halls poem from the pen of Mrs. George Remick telling her experience in earning a dollar was very amusing and was as follows:
Starting out to earn my dollar, was very hard for me.
To tell you how I earned it was much harder, you will see.
Husband needed a hair cut and I thought it hardly fair.
To pay the barber 35c for cutting "hobby's" hair.
So I cut it, as any one can see.
And he gave the 35c to me.
Daughter wanted a skirt made, one of

MILLIONS USE IT TO STOP A COLD

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends severe colds or grippe in few hours.

Relief comes instantly.
A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end grippe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.
It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dizziness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.
Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only a few cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. No, says you get the genuine.

Once there plaited kind,
To make it fit and look nice, would almost turn a mind.
I plaited it and pinned it, and balised it down the middle.
And when she tried that skirt on it was as tight as a riddle.
To make it all over, almost made me "holler".
But I kept it in mind all - - - that that Ladies' Aid dollar.
Next I had a call from Ethel Paul, to hang her clothes upon the line, which has just come home from "Hollers," and they certainly did look fine.
There's a lady lives in this town, who has a very busy life,
And to do her ironing would cause her many a strife.
She said to me one day on the "G. I." Could you do my ironing and bring it home to me?
Yes, I did that ironing, and did it with a hustle.
For I was thinking all the time of this Ladies' Aid "hustle".

Mrs. John P. Jenner told of her experience as follows:
Earn a dollar social it just had to be.
So how to earn my dollar was the question for me.
But our president and her vice, you know, knew I had lots of leisure,
So I thought I had better try my very best to please her.

So fat and tattle have been my trade.
With shuttle and thread all hats have been made.
You know the parson, (by proxy) most phone calls must halter.
At last by fat and tattle I have earned my dollar.

Now here's my dollar for the Ladies' Aid.
So our secretary smile, as she hears how each one was made;
Now I wonder if I have done my best.
But I think I'd better stop, and thank to the rest.

Miss Raymond related the following verse:
There are ways of earning money,
There are ways of winning fame,
Some attractive and inviting,
Some prosaic and tame.

Of the many ways inspiring
None did open up to me.
And no way to earn a dollar
Could I in my pathway see.

Then I turned to household duties,
There were dishes to be done,
And by washing them at evening,
Soon I earned this little sum.

A social hour followed the program and home made candy was on sale.

Private John J. Moran of the 51st Artillery writes the following letter to his mother from Somewhere in France:

My dear mother:
Your letter of Dec. 3rd received and also the Christmas box which certainly did look good to me.
I am now in a seaport place called Brest and is some place too. I sure have seen some of France since I left the front.

The way we left was, we would stay so many days in one town, then move on to the next stopping place, until we reached the place where we were transported forward by the railroad. We rode in box cars for three days and three nights, and finally landed here on the shores of France.

I have been busy all the time since I arrived here helping to load ships that are bringing troops back, but we are now waiting our order home.
We are in tents now and that is a good sign. It means home and it can't be any too soon for us to start. Will let you know as soon as I land in the states and here's hoping I beat this letter over. Love to all.
Your loving son JACK.

EXPLOSION WRECKS A CANDY STORE

Water Tank Explodes in Dore's Store Blowing Out Plate Glass Window and Doing Great Damage

The Dore candy store on Congress street was badly wrecked on Thursday evening by the explosion of a water tank in the basement. A great amount of glass was broken, and although several people were in the store they were not injured by the flying glass, or were people in the front of the store when the plate glass window blew out.

The explosion came shortly before eight o'clock at that time there were two women in the ice cream parlor, two clerks and a customer in the front store, and while badly frightened they were not injured although the flying glass was thrown all around them. The explosion seemed to have come from the rear of the store and it seemed to lift the entire floor.

The large colored glass panels over the basement end of the store were blown out with such force that the shattered glass was driven to the front entrance the entire distance of the store. The explosion also blew out one of the large plate glass windows, the glass being scattered all over the sidewalk.

The noise of the explosion was heard for blocks and the police were quickly on the scene and held the large crowd that gathered in front of the store. The Auto chemical was called but there was no fire. At first it was thought that the explosion had been caused by gas, as there was a heavy odor in the store, but this proved to be from a broken gas pipe in the cellar. The damage was evident all over the store. The glass in the rear of the store was shattered into thousands of pieces, while thru the store glass was thrown to the floor and shattered and some of the glass shelves in the show cases were broken. Some of the fixtures were also broken.

In the store at the time were Peter Jarvis the manager and William Fuss who was on the soda fountain, and the two ladies who had just been served with ice cream.

When the chemical arrived the entrance to the basement from the store was blocked thru the floor being raised and the door jammed, but this was later forced.

The force of the explosion was all above the cellar except in the immediate vicinity of the boiler. This was but five gallon capacity and was used for hot water for the soda fountain and it is supposed that the connection had become clogged and drawing the water off caused the explosion when the heat expanded the air. The explosion broke a gas pipe.

Mr. Andrew Jarvis the proprietor last evening said that he could not figure the damage but he thought it would be in excess of $500.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments.

"Danderine" makes your hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, catching one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

OBJECTS TO U. S. CONTROL OF ANY- THING GERMAN

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 30.—Vigorous opposition to the plans reported from Paris, of the internationalization of the German colonies, was voiced by Senator Borah in the senate today. He said that he was not in favor of the United States assuming any obligation to control or be responsible for any part of the German possessions.

STORING FOOD TO KEEP UP PRICES

Boston, Jan. 30.—The figures on food deposits in cold storage last month, made public today by State Department, show the total for the entire State to have been 20,500,000 pounds, which, the department says, "is considerably more than usual, due to heavy deposits of meat." In December, 1917, the total was 12,534,168 pounds. In November, 1918, there were 15,566,293 pounds deposited.

The department further says: "Reports of hunger and crime on hand Jan. 1, 1919, seem to follow the usual market fluctuations, although both figures are low."

U. S. SOLDIERS BLAMELESS IN CRIME WAVE

(By Associated Press)
Paris, Jan. 30.—That Apaches or all nations, dressed in the uniforms of American soldiers, were responsible for the acts of violence which have been given broadcast publicity as to an alleged American crime wave in Paris. This was shown by an investigation made by the Associated Press.

It was shown that the alleged hold-ups and robberies were far inferior in number to what has been published and that the greater part of them exists only in the vivid imagination of the writers of the yellow papers here.

If you want to know what is going on in these parts during the year 1919 you must have The Herald.

Portsmouth, N. H., Friday, January 31, 1919.

A Highly Ambitious Proposal.

The talk of "internationalizing" the labor movement is an outgrowth of the war and the popularity at the present time of the idea of internationalizing about everything under the sun.

A few days ago Great Britain's plan for internationalizing labor was outlined by George N. Barnes, minister without portfolio, who proposed to have the matter brought before the Peace Conference. His plan is to have an international commission made up of representatives of capital and labor for the settlement of labor problems, this commission to be responsible to the League of Nations. Under this plan the Peace Conference would appoint a small commission composed of delegates from the Great Powers. The commission would convene the first labor conference, which in turn would become the central international commission for the betterment of labor.

Possibly such an arrangement would work well, but in view of the immensity of the field to be covered and the different conditions in the different countries, it is to be feared that obstacles might be encountered that have not been thought of. At first thought it would seem that the workers in every country could best handle their own affairs, and that an attempt to bring all labor troubles before a "world tribunal" would be cumbersome and impracticable.

Conditions differ greatly in the different nations, and there is a vast difference between those in Europe and the United States. For this reason it would seem like a big undertaking to have all labor troubles adjusted by a single body.

It is said that "such questions as the right of the people to form themselves into trade unions might be settled by the Peace Conference." So far this country is concerned that question was settled a long time ago, and there is no question of the right to organize in Great Britain; and, so far as known, the same right is enjoyed in every country. If there are countries in which this right does not exist it is certain that their working people have nothing to internationalize.

Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, is, with a delegation, in Europe in behalf of the interests of organized labor, which ought to know its own business better than any one else. But to outsiders the idea of internationalizing labor matters seems like spreading out to the point of cumbersomeness, to say the least. It is not easy to imagine what the conditions would be if labor troubles in this country had to be submitted to an international tribunal.

The plans and program may be made clearer as the movement proceeds, and until this is done it will be in order for outsiders to withhold judgment. But they will not be able to escape the feeling that, great as are the changes that have come over the world in the last few years, the time is hardly at hand for the internationalization of all things.

The textile workers in Eastern Massachusetts who are agitating for the eight-hour day tell the manufacturers that the wage question does not enter into the matter at all. But what would they say if their grocers and butchers should offer them 12 ounces for a pound and tell them that no question of price was involved?

The selectmen of Hampton are alive to the fact that the "junking" of the Exeter, Hampton and Amesbury Street Railway would mean something to their town and are taking steps to prevent what would be little less than a calamity. It is high time for action if anything is to be done.

It has been proposed to revoke President Wilson's power to return the railroads to their owners at any time within 21 months after the declaration of peace. Congress will do well to go slow on this proposition, which shows that when one big step is taken there is no telling what next may be.

A Boston woman says that during the influenza epidemic in that city there were cases in which untrained nurses demanded $100 a week for their services, and that in some instances this was paid. Yet it is to be presumed that all claimed to be working in the "cause of humanity."

President Wilson has been shown through some of the devastated regions of France, and he declares that no one could put into words the impressions he received. It is certain that if he couldn't no one could.

There are those who demand that the airplane and the submarine be ruled out of future wars. But isn't the world busy just now getting ready to rule out future wars?

Hunters and trappers should not forget that raccoon pelts have been selling at auction in New York at $7.60 each. It pays to catch a 'coon at that price.

THINGS MOVING ALONG AS USUAL

Atlantic Workmen Assured of No Curtailment; Facts as Stated in Paper Filled.

Every citizen in Portsmouth realizes that it is important that the employees of the Atlantic Corporation be retained here as it is the one big asset in addition to the plant. It is exceedingly unfortunate that they should be disturbed through sensational or false reports. The Herald printed on Thursday evening the facts regarding the petition of two of the officers of the Corporation for a receiver and also the statement of one of the officials that it was a move to prevent any interruption of the work. The Herald will keep the citizens of this city thoroughly posted on every move. These are critical times for Portsmouth and vicinity and cooperation is necessary. Reconstruction—not destruction—should be our aim. We have two great assets at our door and we must save them. As in the case with all big enterprises there is bound to develop jealousies and a desire on the part of interested parties to get control of a success. The big Atlantic plant has attracted the attention of all the big ship building concerns. It appealed to C. M. Schwab and Director Pizeo and now comes the offer for the war test. Let's keep cool, and help Portsmouth needs the big industry.

The Herald is informed that the men at the plant will all be kept employed and in hopes that the entire matter will be adjusted at an early date. No man is more thoroughly alive to the necessity of pushing work at the plant and keeping the big plant booming than Mr. Haynes.

The Boston Herald prints the following regarding the Atlantic suit: "Shipbuilders are showing keen interest in the suit brought in Portland, Me., against the United States shipbuilding board Emergency Fleet Corporation by the Atlantic Corporation, of which Arthur H. Sharpe of Boston is president. The petitioner seeks to compel the fleet corporation to pay a reasonable price for work done and being done at Portsmouth, N. H., or to cancel the Atlantic Corporation's contract."

On the decision in this case may depend the fate of a large number of shipbuilding plants which sprang into existence in this country after the United States entered the war.

The Atlantic Corporation declares that the government "insisted upon the employment by the plaintiff of a large number of workmen and laborers, regardless of their skill and efficiency in order to rush the work, regardless of the excessive expense thus entailed, a condition which was never intimated in the offer of the plaintiff corporation might be taken by the defendant and which neither party contemplated in the carrying out of said contract."

The Atlantic Corporation further alleges that the government embarrassed its work by commandeering all pieces of machinery and equipment needed to build the ships at Portsmouth and forced it "to carry for a long period of time its overhead expense for its plant and large body of workmen" that would not have been necessary had it been possible for it to utilize all its resources and facilities.

As a result of the tie-up in transportation the company says it had to purchase and cause to be shipped to the works large quantities of material needed for the construction of the ships, and thus pay the up-to-date amount of capital for which it received during the progress of the work no percentage allowance.

The government also failed, according to the Atlantic Corporation, to deliver a large quantity of rivets it had agreed to furnish, and the Atlantic corporation was compelled to buy them in the open market.

The Atlantic corporation in its bill asks:

1.—That the court cancel a contract of Dec. 4, 1917, and a supplemental agreement of Jan. 10, 1918, and release the plaintiff from all obligation to carry out the terms of said contract.

2.—That the court decree that the plaintiff is entitled to be paid upon a quantum meruit basis for all materials and labor furnished and labor performed under said contract.

3.—That the court decree that the plaintiff be compensated in damages for all sums expended by it upon the request and demand of the defendant.

for the purposes not required by the terms of the contract.

Obliged to Withdraw

The government also required the company to dredge the harbor of Portsmouth near the shipbuilding plant and caused it to assume the responsibility of widening a draw in a Boston and Maine railroad bridge, the company says, although the dredging was not near the shipbuilding company's ways, and it had no control over the bridge, and the work was not required by the terms of the contract.

Couldn't Calculate Costs

War was on at this time, the complainants say, and conditions were such as to forbid them knowing such facts as would allow them properly to calculate costs. The Atlantic company says it relied upon the judgment of the government officials, but eventually discovered that the actual cost of building such ships as it contracted to build was a little more than $195 a ton.

The bill declares that the government admits the inadequacy of the contract price of $160 a ton and offered to contract with the Atlantic company to build five additional vessels at a price of $192 per ton. The government, however, this bill reads, proposed to revise the original contract to make more favorable terms, but the proposed terms were so disadvantageous that the plaintiff could not accept. The bill says that the government board has advantageously revised many other contracts.

Money Withheld

It is further stated in the bill that the government had withheld $1,400,000 from the Atlantic Corporation at different times and is now withholding $750,000, and that, because of this withholding the company is greatly injured in its credit and embarrassed in fulfilling its contract.

Government control of the railroads resulted in serious delays in delivering necessary material at the shipbuilding plant at Portsmouth, the bill alleges, and it adds that the government "willfully established and induced in many instances the cost of materials which entered into ship construction."

For the speedy conduct of the war, the government instituted a policy, according to the bill, which included the seizure of materials and products that entered into the manufacture and production of weapons and steel ships, and introduced great changes with regard to labor, with the result that private industries were interfered with and interrupted.

PORTSMOUTH GIRL ARRIVES HOME WITH UNIT

Miss Helen Boylston, daughter of Dr. Joseph Boylston, arrived in Boston Thursday evening with the Harvard Surgical Unit, with which she has served abroad a year and a half, and arrived at her home today, feeling well and greatly pleased with the opportunity she had for service and the wonderful experiences in the war work.

Miss Boylston sailed for overseas about a year and a half ago with a reinforcement group of eight for the Harvard unit which left Boston three years ago.

On the trip over there were several exciting experiences, but the ship reached its destination safely. The Harvard Unit had charge of 10 percent of all the British wounded on the whole Western front and the hospital to which it was assigned had accommodations for 2000 beds and double the number of patients had to be treated there so one can get a little idea of what work was done by the Unit.

The air raids began to be of frequent occurrence after the last of May; often four or five nights a week. It was not to the credit of the Germans that there was but one casualty in the hospital from these raids.

Members of the Unit were on duty down the line, with German artillery pouring out a steady stream of death dealing shells in front of them, but they worked hard in their endeavor to aid suffering humanity. A good number of the Unit have been decorated for bravery.

Miss Boylston said the trip home was wonderful, the sea was as smooth as glass and all could enjoy it.

Among those of the returning Unit was Miss Helen F. Kinnunen, a sister of Mrs. George H. Wingate of this city.

NAVY YARD NOTES

Most of Them Went West

Most of the 40 prisoners dishonor-ably discharged from the naval prison on Thursday went to the Middle West and New York. One remained in Portsmouth.

Fight Fire With Sand

A gasoline launch attached to the William P. Green, a mother ship to submarine, was badly damaged by a fire Thursday at the Charlestown navy yard. The marine fire brigade and the sailors from the Green used quantities of sand to extinguish the flames,

as water appeared to have no effect.

Will Try Deep Sea Diving
The submarine S-3 will likely leave the yard for her first deep sea diving on Sunday or Monday. Following her trial trips and providing she works well, the sub will be ordered to Providence for further trials on the measured course.

Dr. Tibbetts Retires
Dr. R. B. Tibbetts of Bethel, Me., who has been attached to the yard
medical reserve corps since May 1, 1917, was placed on the inactive list
today with the rank of Lieutenant.

Fully Recovered

covered at his home in Manchester and will return to work shortly.

Reanoke in Dry Dock

essary by a recent collision and the overhauling of sea valves and painting.

Stops a Layoff

The messengers among employees at the Charlestown navy yard was relieved late Thursday when word came from Washington "to incur necessary expenses." It looked for a time as if there would be a lay-off on account of the appropriation having run out.
A few days ago the danger was telegraphed to Washington and the reply was received Thursday.

Can You Beat It?

Notice of another big repair job was received at the Charlestown navy yard Thursday when word came from Washington that the "Rappahannock" was on its way to be converted into a supply ship for the fleet.

Will Move It Back to the Yard

The headquarters of the First Naval District, now occupying three floors of the Little building, at the corner of Boylston and Tremont streets, Boston, will be transferred to the Charlestown navy yard some time previous to March 15. The new storage warehouse at the yard which is nearing completion will probably be selected for the district headquarters. This building will cost when completed, in the vicinity of $750,000, and was started some time after the war and is expected will be ready for occupancy by the first of March at the very latest.

K. OF C. NOTES

There will be a special meeting of the Council this evening.

There was a large attendance at the annual show rehearsal last night.

The Knights are distributing thousands of small books to returning soldiers on transports each book containing one of the "World's best" stories.
These books are being distributed by K. of C. scouts. Their contents and compactness make a strong appeal to the soldiers. The Knights have selected about every transport bringing soldiers home and they are supplied with moving picture projectors and films and many other forms of amusement and comfort for the boys.

The Knights of Columbus have been very fortunate in securing the services of Thomas Brennan, the noted tenor soloist of Dover, for their annual show. Without a doubt the overture of the K. of C. minuetrels is the smallest ever heard in this city, containing all the latest songs, and many novelties will be introduced making it the best that can be produced. Miss Eve Bohm promises to be a big feature of the show. That John Hassett will come through big in an assured fact. Don't miss it.

one desirous to know something about

MARRIED BY THE BRIDES FATHER

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Thursday evening at eight o'clock, when Miss Rhoda Amanda Barnes, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Barnes of State street, was united in marriage to Maurice Wilbert Lobine of Beverly, Mass.

The ceremony took place at the home of the brides parents on State street and it was attended by upwards of a hundred guests, including many from out of town. The house was very prettily decorated with ferns and roses.

The bride who was handsomely gowned in a dress of white satin trimmed with silver lace, wore a full veil caught with a wreath of lilacs of the valley and carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley. The double ring service was held, and the brides father performed the marriage ceremony.

The bride was attended by Miss Charles, their mother of honor, and the bridesmaids were her sisters Marion and Ruth and Marjorie Sperry. The young bridesmaid, Dorothy Coleman, was the flower girl carrying a basket of flowers. The best man was Charles Han.

Following the ceremony a reception and wedding supper was held and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Lobine left on their wedding trip, and upon their return they will reside in Beverly, where the groom holds a responsible position with the United Shoe Machinery company.

They received many very handsome presents and from Mrs. L. Stokes, all of the flowers used in the decorations and carried by the bride. The bride was an active member of her fathers church and very popular.

COUNTRY CLUB TRAP SHOOTING

The Portsmouth Country Club are to add Trap Shooting to the club sports, and the special committee who have been engaged on the matter, have reported that they will establish a temporary shooting range at the club for this winter, and the more elaborate range will be provided this spring. For the present a single trap will be used and the shooting done from the club house. It is planned to hold the first shoot on Saturday Feb. 8th and invitations will be extended to the trap shooters of this section to attend, and it will not be confined to club members at present.

The present arrangements are such as to appeal to the trap shooters for the winter months as it will be comfortable in the club house and the shooting can be done with the minimum exposure to the cold.

There is an apparent very good interest in the sport among the club members and the opportunity for the sport with a range that will be necessary and at the same time well out of the way of people.

JEWISH RELIEF FUND GROWING

The Jewish Relief fund has reached the sum of $3,441 all collected from among the Jewish people of this city, and they have some less than $3,000 to reach their quota of $11,000. The general canvass of the city which was to be done this week, has been postponed until next week, but in the meanwhile the committee would like all those who wish to contribute to this very worth fund, to make payments to Harry Husman on Denbigh street the Treasurer of the fund.

The Portsmouth Jewish people are called upon to raise the second largest sum in the state, their quota is $11,000 where as Manchester is only $20,000. It is greater than Nashua, and Dover is only called upon for $3,500. The Portsmouth Jewish people who are the best organized in the state, have the reputation of being able to do things, and for this reason were given their great quota. They have been very active and generous givers to all of the war charities and the people of this city should be generous in their contribution to this fund, which is for the Jews of Poland, and other war devastated countries, who are in a starving condition.

Returning soldiers to Portsmouth are registering at the Herald office.

PUZZLE FAN'S DEPARTMENT

The following puzzles from Mrs. G. K. R., Kittery, Me., are very catchy and the fans are warned to be sure they're right before they venture an opinion.

The list of answers in the Herald today for last Saturday's puzzles will be the last answers that are published on this series as the solutions will be given Friday.

Mrs. G. K. R. writes:

Puzzle Editor:
1. As I was going to St. Ives, I met a man with seven wives. Each wife had seven sacks, each sack had seven cats, each cat had seven kittens. Kitts, cats, sacks and wives, how many were going to St. Ives?
2. In the dome at Rome there stands a wooden man. Every time he hears the clock strike one he strikes one, too. How many times does he strike in twenty-four hours?
3. My first is a kind of butter, my second is a kind of hecker, my whole is part of a won.
4. If one brick weighs seven pounds and half a brick, how much does a brick and a half weigh?

Puzzle Editor:
Why not try this one? If a train one mile long traveling at the rate of 2702 ft. per second, with a man on the rear, or engine, shooting at a man on the engine, the speed of the bullet being 2700 feet per second, will the man on the engine be hit by the bullet?

What's the answer? Proof.
A. BOLT,
Navy Yard, Portsmouth.

Puzzle Editor:
A train leaving Boston at 2 o'clock going to Portland at the rate of 60 miles an hour.
A train leaving Portland at the same time for Boston at the rate of 10 miles an hour. Which is the nearest to Boston when they pass?
They were both the same distance from Boston.
M. H. H.

Puzzle Editor:
Station A and B are a mile apart. A freight one mile long, has its engine room in front of station A. Just as it starts for station B the conductor goes from the engine room and arrive at the engine just as it gets to station B.
How far does he walk?
How far does he ride?
How far does he travel riding and walking?
He walked one mile.
He rode one mile.
He walked and rode two miles together.

PARISH SOCIAL A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

A parish social of the Court Street Christian society held last evening in the church vestry brought out a large number of parishioners and proved a most pleasant social affair to those in attendance.

The vestry was arranged as a large living room with rugs, tables and chairs and the effect was pretty and home-like. All upon arrival were pleasantly greeted by the pastor, Rev. Perry Warren Caswell, and committee in charge, and a choice and varied entertainment program was a feature of the evening and encores were numerous.

The numbers were as follows: Song (in costume) Miss Ethel Lynn Piano solo Miss Jennie Lynn Violin selections by trio, Margo Ferrini, Renato Francasi, Oberdan Del Lero, Reading, Mrs. Millie Damon Hobbs Piano duet, Misses Emma Weston and Della Ward.

Thomas Rickett Piano duet, Misses Weston and Ward. The entertainment concluded, coffee and fancy cookies were served after which games were indulged in by a good number of the gathering.

The affair was in general charge of the board of directresses of the Benevolent Society of the church and the members certainly deserve praise for the successful way everything was carried out.

POLICE COURT

Arthur L. Stokes, a seaman attached to the U. S. S. Southern, was before Judge Gaptill in the municipal court today charged with disorderly conduct in the Chop Suey restaurant of Henry Chin on Daniel street. It proved to be a case of mistaken identity on the part of Chin.

On Monday night some uniformed men started a rough house at the Chinaman's and besides stealing some of his table equipment broke the glass in a swinging door on the stairway. Stokes came in the place on Thursday night with two other sailors who learned that the Chinaman had Stokes' name on paper as the man causing the trouble. While they were arguing with the clerk that Stokes was not the man two plain clothes officers placed Stokes under arrest on the request of the proprietor. Stokes strongly denied the charge and the record on the ship showed that he was not on liberty the night the place was bombarded. The court ordered him discharged.

ATTITUDE CAUSING TROUBLE

The attitude of the U. S. Shipping Board in its treatment of the big ship building corporations after the armistice was signed is said to be at the bottom of all the troubles. The Atlantic Corporation was only able to do what the Emergency Fleet ordered as to wages, prices of material etc. It would seem that the Emergency Fleet were under some obligation to the thousands of workmen at these yards.

We hope to build many more ships than are now contracted for. The officials of the Shipping Board have been warm in their praise of the excellent record made by the Atlantic Corporation.
